WE NOMINATE

Seven long-working Princetonians—James Carey, Fred Martin Blaicher, Stuart Duncan II, Gilbert Lea, Macpherson Raymond, Albridge Clinton Smith III and William Harris Sword—who over the past several months have sandwiched into their workaday routines the task of organizing one of the most significant events in Princeton University's modern-day history. Under the leadership of the 55-year old Carey, vice-president of the nation's oldest bank, The Bank of New York, this septet has plotted the four-day National Alumni Conference which this week-end will give more than 1,000 Princeton alumni opportunities to ponder the topic, "Princeton in World Affairs: The Challenge of International Responsibilities."

At this point in time, some 65 years after Woodrow Wilson (who as a Princeton professor and president displayed small interest in world affairs) popularized the slogan, "Princeton in the Nation's Service", Carey and his six committee chairmen have been concerned with helping dramatize the role of the American university in the 1960's. The program they are implementing will stress that there must be "a lifting of sights" on the part of American education, that "top priorities" must be accorded to world affairs, and that there "must be a higher quality of educational performance"—whether a university is meeting challenges at home or in the emergent nations in the world around it.

The efforts of the "Princeton Seven," including the telephone marathon organized by the 36-year old Sword to establish contact with hundreds of University alumni in this area, link the impending conference with the objectives expressed early in the 19th century by the founding president of Princeton's National Alumni Association, James Madison. While President Madison and his associates, and their successors down into the 20th century, were also worried by matters budgetary, they were almost as perturbed as "Princeton 1961" by the problem of strengthening American educational resources and thereby providing effective educational leadership.

Above all, the week-end projected by the volunteer program committee headed by Smith, 47-year old attorney and active in a half-dozen different segments of Princeton community life, documents that the traditional stereotype of the "old grad" is as dated as a John Held flapper. For winning athletic teams, for the tinselly conceptions popularized by F. Scott Fitzgerald, for the frothiness of the 1920's and 1930's, there have been substituted an increasing awareness of educational demands and of the significance of the university as a "center of both learning and of service with a public purpose."

Supplementing, and underscoring, the significance of the -conference theme, which will provide the continuity for a series of faculty forums and major addresses by a former Assistant Secretary of State (Robert L. Bowie '31) and a "New Frontiersman" (Harlan Cleveland '38, Assistant Secretary of State), will be a round of alumni working sessions—ranging from undergraduate admissions to high finance. Paradoxically, the great majority of the 112 Princeton alumni associations scattered around the world will have official delegates on hand, while Princeton Town, the one major center with no alumni organization, will not be "officially represented."

For seeking to bolster the Town-Gown tradition, or partnership, which is a source of the Princeton Community's strength; for reflecting the understanding and seriousness of purpose that mean so much in the ongoing development of American higher education; for broadening the base of alumni participation in the university affairs; these seven are our nominees for

WASHINGTON WINS

In Republican Primary. The question of who runs the Republican party in New Jersey was clearly answered Tuesday with the victory in the primary elections of former Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell. The State Republican Committee and several county organizations were handed a resounding defeat as the candidate backed by a quartet of national GOP leaders scored a clear-cut triumph over two members of the New Jersey Legislature.

Mr. Mitchell staged a come-from-behind victory, trailing by a few thousand votes in the early returns but drawing even before half the state's 4,000-plus districts had been tabulated. He drew steadily ahead from there, compiling an eventual total of some 200,000. This was well above the 156,000 credited to State Senator Walter H. Jones of Bergen and better than twice the figure for State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. of Warren, who finished with 93,000.

Mr. Mitchell entered the race last fall at the urging of Sen. Clifford P. Case, who won a 337,000-vote landslide last November in the face of the Democratic Presidential victory. He also had the immediate backing of Princeton's H. Alexander Smith, long-time member of the U. S. Senate who retired in 1958.

No sooner had Mr. Jones and Mr. Dumont conceded early Wednesday than Jim Mitchell in Newark, got a telephone call from Dick Nixon in California. Active campaigning for the Eisenhower cabinet member was promised in the fall by the former Vice President. Private citizen Eisenhower, too, said he would bespeak Mr. Mitchell's election.

First Test Since 1960. For Republicans, now the political have-nots in Washington, the upcoming gubernatorial test in New Jersey will be the first opportunity to reverse the trend. The state is one of a very few which holds such an election in an off-year, and the GOP goal will be to point a signpost for '62 and '64 indicative of victory.

From the Democratic viewpoint, the race between Mr. Mitchell and former Judge Richard J. Hughes, the Democratic nominee, is seen as the initial opportunity to write a testimonial to the Kennedy administration. A close, hotly-contested campaign involving numerous national figures is expected to result.

Mr. Jones' defeat was marked by the inability of several county organizations to deliver on behalf of the man they had backed—in preference to bowing to "dictation" from party members in Washington. Among these were Mercer and neighboring Somerset

THE WINNER: James P. Mitchell topped Republican balloting Tuesday in a three-way primary race for governor.

LIGHT VOTE? With only 31 percent of the electorate voting in Princeton Township on Tuesday, there was plenty of time for election officials to catch up on mending or to relax and chat between voters. Mrs. John M. Moore (left) watches the dextrous needle of Mrs. Richard K. Paynter, III, both of District 7. (Staff Photo)

In this county, Mr. Mitchell had a lead of about 4 to 3 over Mr. Jones, and the latter trailed even Wayne Dumont, who was generally conceded to be the low man state-wide before the balloting began. If there was cause for celebration at the Alexander Street home of Sen. Smith, there was none at the Boudinot Street residence of Dr. Charles R. Erdman, who had resigned in stormy protest a fortnight ago as Republican State Chairman to oppose Mr. Mitchell and back Mr. Jones.

Princeton for Mitchell. The final figures in the state were accurately reflected in totals here, save that in Princeton Mr. Dumont was second. The town's 17 election districts gave the winner 1414; Mr. Dumont, 585; Mr. Jones, 393. The Borough figures: Mr. Mitchell, 601; Mr. Dumont, 210; Mr. Jones, 184. The Township: Mr. Mitchell, 813; Mr. Dumont, 375; Mr. Jones, 209.

All three Republican candidates had committees working for them here. Conceivably the best showing is to be credited to Mr. Dumont's backers, since he ran so much better in Princeton than elsewhere. Mr. Mitchell's plurality also was higher here than in the rest of the state.

Democrats Back Organization. As expected, Mr. Hughes ran far ahead of the token opposition on his ticket, with the 10 to 1 A primary battle between two Trenton residents for State Senator went to the incumbent, Side L. Ridolfi, over Richard L. Gray. Both Princeton municipalities backed Mr Ridolfi heavily.

The voting was relatively high for a primary election, but was no doubt curtailed by a day of fairly steady rain. In a highly unusual coincidence, both Princeton municipalities turned out 30.5 percent of the electorate, but a greater number went to the polls in the Township, where there are 5630 registered voters compared to 5093 in the Borough.

Princeton's uncontested local elections saw Borough Republicans produce about two votes for every one recorded by the Democrats, while in the Township the ratio was nearly 3 to 1. Alan W. Cerick, GOP Council candidate, was high man with 854, followed by his running mate, Joseph R. Wood with 842. Henry S. Patterson, the party's choice for mayor, drew 839.

Mayor Raymond F. Male was accorded 485 votes as he began his campaign for a third two-year term. Councilman John J. Redding received 481; Robert W. Van de Velde, 472. In the Township, Republicans William L. Wilson was given 1016; Democratic Committeeman William W. Marvel, 381.

"YES" ORGANIZES

Officers Chosen. Officers and a board of trustees for "YES", the Youth Employment Service of Princeton, Inc., were chosen last week at a formal organization meeting. The purpose of YES is to provide employers with a source of labor and to help young people who want after-school or summer jobs.

Mrs. Richard Schoch has been elected president. William Hilgerdorff will be first vice-president; Mrs. Raymond Male, second vice-president; Mrs. Harold Vaughan, secretary and Mrs. Douglas Langston, treasurer.

Members of the Board of Trustees are: Samuel Bahadurian, representing the Lions Club; Mrs. Rowan Boone, Family Service; Miss Florence Burke, Princeton High School; George W. Conover, Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. H. W. Hobler YWCA; Francis Huntington, Princeton Council of Churches.

Also Charles Lamontagne, YMCA; Dr. John McKeona, Township Schools; Mrs. M. H. Mesner, Woman's Club; J. P. Meyer, Rotary; Mrs. Robert Schwenker, St. Paul's P.T.A.; Thomas Seraydarian, Princeton High School (Guidance Director); Howard Wexrood, Jr., Witherspoon Street School. Howard Stepp, Juvenile Referee, is also a member. Two representatives from the Princeton High School Student Council will be chosen shortly.

Officers of the organization hope to announce soon the location and telephone number of YES headquarters.

PERSON TO PERSON

An acquaintance who read our last column on the part that "luck" plays in research gave us a confirming quotation he said he took from an article in Parade Magazine by Lester David, entitled, "How To Improve Your Luck." This is the quote: "At lunch one day in Johns Hopkins University, a laboratory assistant named Constantic Fahlberg discovered that the food he touched was sweeter than anything he had ever known. A substance he'd been mixing in a test hadn't been used on his hands properly. Instead of shrugging off the incident, he was intrigued. He investigated. Luck, plus a healthy curiosity, gave him and the world saccharine.

And so it goes . . . we all know of the part that "luck" has played in many real life stories, and it occurs to us that right now luck is taking a hand in getting you to read this little column. You see, if by luck, it steers you to our door, we'll both be lucky . . . and we'll do the rest to convince you that this is one of the best things that can happen to you! Come in soon, please.

PERSONALITIES

Thomas Hillbish, 119 Jefferson Road, and Milton Lyon, 69 Alexander Street, both this week drew rave reviews for tuplight musical productions of widely diverse nature staged under their direction. Mr. Hubish was responsible for the Princeton High School Choir's American premiere of Webern's unique "Cantata No. 2 (see page 8), and Mr. Lyon, executive director of McCarter Theatre, created a joyous, flairful presentation of the Broadway musical, "Guys and Dolls". (see page 5.)

Mrs. Edward P. Meservey, 72 Dorann Avenue, who has achieved a goal attained by no other woman in the 215-year history of Princeton University with her admission next fall to the Graduate School in the program of Oriental studies. While The Daily Princetonian hoped that the precedent - shattering move was not a forerunner "of the admission of women on a wholesale basis," Mrs. Meservey made plans to earn a higher degree in her chosen field. ROUND-UP

The seven days beginning Monday, April 10 and running through Sunday were enough to boost the sale of inks: rain fell most of four different days and totalled a dripping 3.95 inches. . . .that's about normal for the entire month, but more fell Tuesday and the 30-day forecast through mid - May called for "precipitation above normal". . . . it was cold, too, with minimum temperatures around the freezing mark for six straight days.

Use of an air rifle, illegal in itself, has been protested to Borough police by three residents. . .Mrs. Henry A. Cotton Jr., 1 Lafayette Road West, reported a broken window pane in her front door. . . . Edward Marshall, 89 Cleveland Lane, said BB shots had struck his front door without damage . . . and Albert E. Bailey 43 Hibben Road, saw a car stop near his home, one of the occupants alight and shoot out a street light with an air rifle.

The flag at "Morven," Gov. Meyner's residence, is at half-mast to mark the death of Gov. Morgan Larson, Republican, who was the state's chief executive from 1929-32. . . . a "Report to the Citizens," issued by the Princeton Township Committee, is available for the asking at Township Hall. . . .It provides a factual rundown on numerous recent developments and extends an invitation to attend municipal meetings.

Fifteen residents of the Princeton area are on the preliminary panel of 50 drawn for the May term of the Mercer County grand jury: Simeon Hutner, 28 Hibben Road; Alfred A. Bernhardt, 27 Marion Road West; the Rev. Duncan Brockway, 1 Broad Street, Hopewell; William A. Schreyer, 15 Haslet Avenue; J. Dudley Clark Jr., 57 Mountain Avenue; Donald M. Ditmars, 11 East Franklin Avenue, Pennington; Ronald W. Hadley, Pennington - Lawrenceville Road; Frederick C. Wightmen Jr., 301 Western Way; Paul K. Perry, 27 Merion Road West; Edwin A. Toussaint, Princeton Junction; Sydney G. Stevens, 5 Springdale Road; Maurice R. Braun, 9 Haslet Avenue; Arthur Miller, 128 Washington Road; David W. Sidford, 186 Russell Road; and Carl E. Helm, 207 Mount Lucas Road.

Dr. Warren W. Eason, 25 Merritt Drive, Nassau Estates, has resigned from the Lawrence Township Board of Education because he will leave in the late summer to spend a year in research in Moscow . . . a member of the department of economics at Princeton, he has been granted 12 months' leave of absence . . . James C. Fenimore, 112 Slack Avenue, will replace him on the board.

Prowlers and thieves continue their depredations. . . one entered Princeton Photo Process, 11 Witherspoon Street, taking $93 in cash and a smaller sum in checks. . . police believe entry was made through metal cellar doors in the sidewalk.

WOMAN ADMITTED

To Princeton University. For the first time in its history, Princeton University has admitted a woman student. Mrs. Edward B. Meservey, 72 Dorann Avenue, will enter the University's graduate program in Oriental studies in the fall to begin work for her Ph. D. in Turkish history. She expects to complete the full three - year program.

Mrs. Meservey has been an instructor in history at Douglass College since 1953 and has received a leave of absence from the college. She is a graduate of Barnard College and holds a master's degree from Columbia University. She has received a Danforth Scholarship to pursue her work at Princeton.

The possibility that Mrs. Meservey might be accepted by Princeton was suggested to her by Mrs. Mary Bunting, former dean at Douglass and now president of Radcliffe. Dr. Bunting arranged a meeting between Mrs. Meservey and President Robert F. Goheen. Then the prospective candidate wrote to Dr. Goheen explaining that she wanted to enter the school because it had a fine department of Oriental studies and because it offered nearby facilities which would eliminate the need to commute long distances.

"Mrs. Meservey has been admitted to Princeton because this university has seemed a particularly and peculiarly appropriate place for her studies," said Donald R. Hamilton, Dean of the graduate school. "Princeton may admit other women in the future as special cases but does not plan to make general admissions of women graduate students. It has no residential facilities for women students."

NEXT YEAR: PRINCETON: Sabra Meservey, history teacher, housewife and mother of three, will begin graduate studies at Princeton next fall, the first woman to be admitted to the University in the 215-year history of the institution. A resident of Princeton since 1954, Mrs. Meservey will be free to start her Ph.D studies next fall because her youngest son will be entering first grade and "the Township schools will baby-sit for me." The oldest Meservey child, Roger, is 14, Dick, the middle one, 9. Mr. Meservey is a nuclear physicist with Project Matterhorn. (Staff Photo)

The Daily Princetonian, campus newspaper, commented:

"Dean Hamilton's statement is reassuring to the extent that it points out this unusual nature of the case, but it is disturbing in its reason for not admitting women to the university on a wholesale basis.

"If this is the only basis for The only reason, according to the statement, is that adequate housing is not presently available.

Nassau Hall's stand against admission of women, the present case may have far-reaching implications. We can only hope it does not. Princeton is unique as an undergraduate men's college and must remain so."

SCHOOL PLANNED HERE

For Catholic Girls. The Religious of the Sacred Heart has applied to the Township Zoning Board for a variance so that the order can erect a Catholic day school for girls on The Great Road south of the Tenacre Foundation. There are 50 acres, more or less, in the property, which belongs to Catherine M. Monck.

The new school would be designed for girls from kindergarten age through the tenth grade and approximately 200 students would be accommodated at first. If high school facilities were added, the enrollment would be about 300, according to spokesmen for the order.

The Nassau Swim Club, a cooperative venture undertaken by a group of University faculty members, will also appear before the zoning board to ask for a variance so that they can construct their pool on property south of the Springdale Golf Club.

Robert F. McCarthy, owner of The Pink Elephant, will apply to the Board for permission to operate a coin ice-vending machine in the Princeton Shopping Center.

CONFERENCE SET

For Alumni This Week-end. Some 1,000 Princeton University alumni from all parts of the country will gather here this weekend for a three-day conference on "Princeton in World Affairs: The Challenge of Internatioaal Responsibilities."

Sponsored by the National Alumni Association, the conference has been planned by committees of the 1,300-member Princeton area alumni group working with members of the faculty and administration. Purpose of the conference is to provide a closer understanding of Princeton's relation to the problems of the free world.

Dinner programs have been planned for Thursday and Friday evenings in Dillon Gymnasium. There will be two seminars on Friday and one Saturday.

Principal speaker at Thursday's dinner will be Robert R. Bowie, former head of the State Department's Policy and Planning Staff and now director of The Center for International Affairs at Harvard University.

J. Harlan Cleveland, Assistant Secretary of State for International Organization's Affairs, will be principal speaker Friday evening.

James F. Oates Jr., Charter Trustee and general chairman of the $53 Million for Princeton campaign, will report on the latest campaign totals at a

To Alumni Wives. Wives of alumni attending this weekend's three-day conference at Princeton University have been invited to tour the gardens of four Princeton residences. The tour will start at 2 Saturday following a luncheon at Forrestal Research Center.

Gardens included in the tour are those at "Tusculum," the home of Mrs. Ario Pardee on Cherry Hill Road; "Pretty Brook Farm," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Mathey; the home of Mrs. Walter E. Edge, Elm and Stockton, and the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Roland T. Ely, Mercer Street.

Arrangements for the tour have been made by a committee consisting of Mrs. Donald W. Griffin, Mrs. James Carey, Mrs. Gilbert Lea, Mrs. Crawford C. Madeira, Jr., Mrs. Roger B. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. John C. Williams, Jr.

THIEVES BREAK IN

Rob Three Places. Three business establishments in the Princeton area were rifled over the weekend by burglars who jimmied doors or wormed through small windows for a total take of about $500 from all three tills.

Township police, who are investigating two of the burglaries, and State police who are investigating the third, assume that all three were committed by the same hands.

Kammler Buick, Route 206, lost about $340 in cash from the office safe and soda and cigarette machines. The front door was forced and the office safe ripped from its wall and forced open. State Police estimate that the burglary occurred sometime between Sunday afternoon and Monday morning, when the agency was opened.

Leiggi's Esso Station, Bayard Lane, was robbed of $162 by thieves who squirmed through a 12 x 16 inch window opening to gain entrance to the station. At the Shelton Motor Company, Route 206, the parts room and another storage room were ransacked and small change was taken from two vending machines.

Investigation is proceeding under Township Sergeant Fred Porter and Detectives James Burns and Trooper Vincent O'Donahue of the State Police.

WOMAN LOSES LICENSE

For Drunk Driving. Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. has revoked for two years the driving license of Miss Phyllis R. Tindall, 42, of 32 Vandeventer Avenue and fined her $225 for driving while intoxicated. A reckless driving charge against Miss Tindall was dismissed. She pleaded not guilty to both offenses.

In other cases, Chester Raymond, 63, of 37 Palmer Square, was fined $18 for speeding and Carl Valenti, 22, of Opposum Road, Rocky Hill, $15, for careless driving. Mrs. Jean R. Klang, 25, of 220-C Harrison Street and Donald E. Opdycke, 17, of Shaw Drive, Kingston, each paid fines of $12 for red light violations.

Mrs. Pearl M. Pashko, 49, of 48 Linden Lane, and Mrs. Jean Ritenour, 45, of 270 Hamilton Avenue, were fined $15 each for failing to set hand brakes. Mrs. Ritenour's daughter, Jean, 20, same address, was also fined $15 on an overdue inspection violation.

William H. Sayen, 39, of 167 Edgerstouns Road, paid $15 for failure to signal before turning the curb. Bennie Brown, 53, of Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, was fined $10 for no name on a commercial vehicle. Mrs. Phyllis L. Kane, 30, of 606 Ewing Street, and Richard L. Montgomery, 16, of 171 John Street, each paid $10 —the former, no registration in possession; the latter, no license in possession.

In criminal court, Edward M. Domanoski, 29, of 29 Kingsley Road, Kendall Park, was fined $20 and $10 court costs as a disorderly person. Domanoski was charged with using loud and abosive language in Princeton Hospital. He pleaded not guilty.

LONG, LONG ROAD

Sidewalks Again. The vexing, perplexing question of sidewalks was raised again in the Township Monday night when residents of Sycamore Road and North Harrison Street appeared before Township Committee to question the assessments levied against them for the construction of sidewalks past their properties.

Milton R. Hersh, 179 Riverside Drive on the corner of Sycamore, protested his assessment because he said that he was being taxed twice.

"I pay half the cost and the Township pays half," he said, "but as a taxpayer, I also pay part of that half that the Township is paying so I'm taxed twice. The man across the street from me has no sidewalk and he isn't being assessed at all."

Mr. Hersh also said that he had not wanted the sidewalk in the first place and did not regard it as an improvement to his property.

He said that Committeeman John S. Mount had told him that, because the Hersh lot is on a corner, the assessment would only be 2/3 of the amount actually assessed.

Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman said that this applied to road assessments but not to sidewalk assessments.

"I wish," said Mayor Feirman," that the state would allow us to assess both sides of the street when we lay a side-

IMINA DOWNJOUR

No doubt about it, the sun has been perfecting it's disappearing act at public expense. So far, April has been a wet cool, generally cloudy month.

Thursday is scheduled to bring a change for the better, the report has it. Showers are a possibility Friday, however, and the weekend outlook is for continued temperatures below normal. Best hope: those May flowers presumably the product of April showers are only ten days away.

News Of The THEATRES

TOPFLIGHT MUSICAL

"Guys and Dolls" Scores. Princeton's theatre-goers were treated last weekend to one of the best amateur productions that has ever been given in this part of the world: an immensely vivacious, skilfully mounted rendition of Frank Loesser's "Guys and Dolls," presented by the P.J. & B Players for the benefit of McCarter Theatre's Center for the Performing Arts.

Fast, brassy and brash, this "Guys and Dolls" carried its Damon Runyon characters from Broadway to nightclub to mission to crap game with that supreme assurance and competence which is the hallmark of the well-directed play.

For it is Milton Lyon, as the director, who deserves the loudest applause for this success. His succeeded in welding, (as the old theatrical saw goes) a troup of self-styled "commuters, housewives and eggheads," members of Triangle Club and assorted dancers from the Princeton Ballet Society into a group capable of sharp, decisive ensemble numbers like "Fugue for Tin-Horns," "Sit Down, You're Rockin' the Boat" and "Luck, Be A Lady" which could have appeared without apology almost anywhere along Broadway.

He kept the action fast but clear, handled his crowd scenes with imagination and skill and maneuvered his individual actors so that their best sides were always toward the footlights.

Songs Were Solid. Let's face it: a musical is the hardest kind of enterprise for amateurs to do successfully because even a church-soloist amateur voice is just not professional in quality. However, the nature of these guys and dolls is such that nobody needed a top-notch singing voice. A good nasal Broadway accent, delivered with power and a reasonable attention to pitch, carries Loesser's songs wheverer they need to go, and they were belted to the very bleachers of McCarter in this production.

Tha energy of Anne Sheldon as "Miss Adelaide," Stuart Duncan as "Nathan Detroit" and Greg Farrell as "Sky Masterson" sufficed to put across their songs with conviction and warmth. Gentler songs were purveyed by Dorothy Talbot as "Sarah Brown," the mouse from the mission, and Ashby Adams as her protector, "Arvide Abernathy."

McCarter audiences will probably remember longest the delightful performance of Miss Sheldon; Mr. Duncan, an undergraduate named Johnny Mintum who was an exceptionally ingratiating "Nicely-Nicely," and Princeton's own (as they say) Marion Opdycke whose throw-away line, "I'm going back to The Bait to squeeze oranges" very nearly caused the walls to come tumbling down.

For this production of "Guys and Dolls," tha P.J. & B people used the Shakespearean stage designed by Hugh Hardy. It took a period of adjustment to get used to seeing Nicely-Nicely figure the odds where one had last seen Hamlet borne off on a shield. However, the superstructure proved to be immensely serviceable, chiefly baceuse of its two levels.

Above, where once Titania had caressed Bottom, the lookout stood guard over the manhole leading to the sewer (i.e., the stage) where the Oldest Established Floating Crap Game in New York was in progress. Or, the upper level again served as a street while the stage proper was a basement hotspot. Shakespeare would have said okay.

The orchestral accompaniment for all these goings-on came, not from brass and drum, but from Milton Lyon and Will Johnson at two pianos. They were very good. Nobody in the audience even missed the orchestra. Nobody on stage missed a beat. Everybody in the theatre went home happy.

"WE'RE CARRIED AWAY"

Say Comden and Green. "A Party with Comden and Green," due at McCarter this Friday at 8:30, is apparently a success because the two hosts are "carried away" by what they are doing. Entrance by the ideas in their material and entranced by the little joke, the little sentiment or the little satire in each number, they feel that their own relish is communicated infectiously to the audience.

Comden and Green, authors, produce good-humored and polished satire. Comden and Green, performers, are wholeheartedly immersed in their "party". At present, they are enjoying the success of their new musical, "Do Re Mi" and working on another, "Subways Are for Sleeping."

TO GIVE MARLOWE WORK

In Chapel. Christopher Marlowe's "Doctor Faustus" will be presented this Thursday, Friday and Saturday by the Chapel Deacons in the Princeton University Chapel at 8:30 p.m. The production is open to the public without charge. It will also be given next Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29.

Emory Battis, who appeared last year as the statue in the Deacons' production of "Don Juan in Hell," will portray Doctor John Faustus. A veteran of many Princeton theatrical productions, Mr. Battis has been seen in "Age of Anxiety" and "Revenger's Tragedy" for Theatre Intime.

Other roles in the Marlowe play will be taken by William Harmon, Princeton sophomore, who will play Mephistopheles; Robert Swigert who will play Wagner, Faustus' servant and Lee Timm who will portray Helen of Troy. Mr. Swiegert was the Devil in the 1960 "Don Juan in Hell." Miss Timm has been in many Community Players' productions.

David Cain will appear as Valdes and also as the Emperor. James Mitchell and Robin Pittendrigh will play the Duke and Duchess of Vanholt and Constance Loux will portray Lechery, one of the seven deadly sins.

PCD PLAYS SCHEDULED

For This Weekend. Two one-act plays will be presented at Princeton Country Day School this Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. There will also be performances by the school band and glee club. Admission will be $1 per person. Refreshments will be served during intermission.

The first play, entitled "The Red Velvet Goat," is a Mexican comedy written by Josephina Niggli. It tells the story of a Mexican family which stages a play in order to raise money to buy a goat. The leading role of Esteban Elizondo will be played by John Sheehan. Others in the cast are Craig Battle, Ward Jardi, John Scheide, Tim Farley, John Ritchie, Kevin Kennedy, Gerard Cameron, Addison Hanan, Daryl Goodrich, Sandy Edwards, Bill Caman, Tommy Lea, Rusty Matthews, Webster Pearce and Jimmy Scarf.

The second play, called "Incident in a Waxworks Museum," is about an American newspaper reporter who spends the night in the "Murderer's Den" of a waxworks museum. The play was adapted from a short story by eight PCD students: Gerard Cameron, Randy Hobler, Brunie Dielheon, W.H. Walker, Peter Raymord, Jack

one of a series

Just one of the numerous swimming pools in the Princeton area installed by nationally-recognized Sylvan Pools, Inc. This is but one of 50 custom shapes and sizes. Sylvan Pools was recently awarded the Gold Medal for design excellence so that, as for 14 years, Sylvan Pools are the most proved, most popular, most reliable swimming pools available. You may be surprised to learn that a hand-crafted, steel-reinforced Sylvan Pool costs no more than pools of far lesser quality. Priced from $2880 to $6980, low bank rates require as little as $50 per month. Where quality and pride of ownership are considerations, a Sylvan Pool is your best buy. STUDENT FILM HERE

Premiere Next Wednesday. The world premiere of the film, "The Path," written and directed by E. A. Dixon, will be presented next Wednesday, April 26 at McCarter Theatre. Mr. Dixon an undergraduate at Princeton University, prepared the film for his senior English thesis.

"The Path" is a symbolic film of a young couple who find themselves in a Victorian atmosphere with which they are incompatible. The film is distinctly dream-like, but the atmosphere is achieved through dialogue, setting and composition, rather than trick or distorted photography.

Members of the cast of "The Path" will be on hand for the first showing at 7 p.m. and also prior to the 9:15 showing. The film, which is only 30 minutes long, will have as its co-feature another new film, "Eighth Day of The Week," written by R. S. Homer of Poland. This film which is also having its world premiere, is a full-length feature depicting the problems of a young couple in Warsaw who are unable to find a place to live.

This will be the first showing of "The Path" prior to its commerical release next Fall. Limited television showings are planned for a later date. Tickets for next Wednesday's showings, at 75 cents each, are now on sale at the University Store.

TRIP PLANNED

For Ballet Society. Ninety tickets for the Moiseyev Dance Company's performance in Philadelphia on May 12 have been reserved by the Princeton Ballet Society, and although members of the Society will have priority in reservations, the general public may buy tickets after next Wednesday on first-come-first served basis.

Applications from members of the Society must be made by next Wednesday. All applications should be addressed to Mrs. F. P. Schoettle, Province Line Road.

Two buses will transport the group to Convention Hall and back. The cost of bus transportation is included in the $7.75 price for the trip. Checks should be made out to the Princeton Ballet Society and sent, with a stamped self-addressed envelope, to Mrs. Schoettle.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Great Impostor (April 19-25) is based on the true life story of Ferdinand Waldo Demara Jr., a man who was driven, unaccountably, to assume various disguises during his life. Refused officers' training in the service because he had completed only two years of high school, Demara deserted and took on the role of a college professor, actually teaching at a school.

Demara's next disguise was as a Trappist Monk, and he went on to become a warden at a southwestern penitentiary. His disguises were more than just masks; he took everything seriously, and actually made great rehabilitation progress with the prisoners. Perhaps his most amazing adventure was when he posed as a doctor in the Royal Canadian Navy during the Korean War, and, with no medical training, performed 19 successful surgical operations.

Unfortunately, script-writer Liam O'Brien has apparently decided that the truth is unbelievable and has chosen to treat Demara's life story with a tongue-in-cheek attitude. This emphasis of the humorous only shows Hollywood's misunderstanding of a deeply troubled man. Tony Curtis heads the cast, which also includes Edmond O'Brien, Arthur O'Connell, Keri Malden and Raymond Massey.

"TWOFERS" AT PCD: Two plays for the price of one is the offer being made by the producers of two one-act plays that will be given in the auditorium of Princeton Country Day School this Friday and Saturday. Top: a group of actors in "The Red Velvet Goat". Left to right, Gerald Cameron, Addison Hanan, and "three little girls": John Ritchie, John Scheide and Thomas Farley. Bottom: Randolph Hobler (left) and Robert Leventhal enact a scene from "Incident in a Waxworks Museum." (Staff Photos)

The Absent-Minded Professor (April 26-May 2). Walt Disney, it is reported, lost a million-and-a-half dollars last year, but after only four months of 1961 he has released three pictures which should put him back in the black. If not, there's always Disneyland.

"The Absent-Minded Professor" is a zany romp, almost identical to his box-office success of a year ago, "The Shaggy Dog." It concerns a professor (Fred MacMurray) who invents an antigravitational formula, "flubber" (flying rubber), and applies it to, among other things, his Model T Ford and a midget basketball team. It may sound silly, but it's very funny.

MacMurray plays the foggy professor, with Nancy Olson as his sweetheart. Several mem-

RASPBERRY STRETCH

With Built-in Figure. The Red Barn, north on Route 206, calls it self "Red Barn Casuals," but there's nothing casual about a new collection of bathing suits now poised on the counter ready for a dive into summer.

These suits are about as calculating and formal as anyone could wish. We here define "formal" in the dictionary's sense of "having the outward shape without the inward reality," because these suits will provide a very commendable outward shape for ladies whose inward reality may be less than perfect.

The fabric is a strong helance and nylon, reinforced with a permanent-lift brassiere and strong seams that restrain almost like a girdle. The style is varied, including a maillot, a softer model with shirred sides and a fold across the bosom and a shy little thing with cap sleeves.

Colors are bold, including a ripe raspberry, plum, turquoise and sky blue. Sizes are 10 to 16, price is $25.

To wear over suit, short or skirt, Red Barn has Villager's popover combining kelly with royal or yellow with mustard in a well-yoked, full bodied shirt that grasps the neckline with a mandarin band and allows full swing to a wide hem of painted paper dolls and flowers.

While we're here at the Villager, we might as well comment on a paisley horsacking from that house. This is straight and narrow, with tommy collar, roll-ups, a belt with coin buckle and some copper-isoned elephants parading in bands around the whole.

A silk shantung sheath is made like a shirt, too, with collar, buttons and a very soft sash at the waist. The sleeves are almost to the elbow. It's raspberry, just like a sherbet. In the same shade, Red Barn has a wool knit suit from Holland made with fully-lined skirt and a white striped jacket finished off with a wide, raspberry sailor collar.

One memorable suit at Red Barn is a pale sand monotone, done in basketweave wool with matching leather panels down the front and presented with a finely tucked silk organze blouse whose round collar, turned over the pale leather of the jacket, seems to blend into its soft beige.

Nubbed, linen - like fabric makes a classic cap-sleeved sheath belted with a blurred print which, appears again as the fabric for a seven-eighths coat. Olive greens and pale golds form this floral print. For sport, there is a silk ensemble in three pieces consisting of sleeveless shirt, short sleeved cardigan and straight skirt.

The colors are yellow, lime and cocoa, arranged in bands to form the shirt and sewed in a ribbon around the edges of the button-free cardigan. The cardigen is lemon yellow.

You'll be somewhat more informal in a pair of blue and white striped cotton knit pants (or yellow) with a solid blue or yellow popover cut short in waist and sleeve. $17.95 for the set.

Dacron crepe is a newcomer to the synthetic field, and it is represented at Red Barn by a full-skirted shirtwaist dress of rust and white plaid with cuffed sleeves and a knotted scarf at the throat. Again, it's a melon crepe with full skirt sashed in front, no sleeves and a full cowl neck.

Bi-Nutrio 7

Frances Denney's New Life is a face cream so rich that it looks like the top of the bottle. It is, for the scientists among us, a synergetic. This means, according to Frances, that each ingredient in the cream reinforces the performance of the others so that, in formula, they all produce a greater total effect than if you used each individually. You with us?

The chief thing is this Bi-Nutrio 7, a bio-complex said to increase the intake of oxygen by the skin's cells. This improves texture, discourages lines and wrinkles and makes you look 16 again. Despite its richness, however, New Life is very light. "It melts quickly, leaving only beauty to show what is going on way down deep." It will also "light your skin with a living excitement and a glow that is preciously feminine."

How can you resist? The place to go is Thorne's, where New Life is available to all in three sizes: one ounce, $10; two ounces, $17.50; four ounces, $30.

CREAM FOR WARM DAYS

At Thorne's, Helena Rubenstein, the Resourceful, has turned out for warm weather a light cream, easily and quickly absorbed. It's Creamessence, made from a greaseless formula that includes Pendron. And Penedron, if you didn't know before, enables the cream to penetrate deep, deep, deep.

Metchabelli enters the field with a daytime moisturizing lotion, also greaseless, that supplies those polyunsaturates which are 50 percent more abundant in the 20-year-old skin than the 40-year-old skin. So who's 40?

From the creams, we move on to the scents, most of which now come in convenient spray containers. For example, Thorne's has Yardley's spray mist in those nostalgic Yardley fragrances: Lavender, Bond Street, April Violet, and so on, for $2.50 when the value is really $3.25.

Stradivari says "He's yours by remote control" when you use the spray mist fragrance of Wind Song, Beloved or Abano. Replique and Plaisir come in toilet water spray bottles at $4.50, with automatic atomizer. Antilope gives you a free $1.75 vial of perfume—made.

BRILLIANT PERFORMANCE

By High School Choir. The Princeton High School Choir, conducted by Thomas Hillbish, last Wednesday gave the American premiere of one of the most important, and most difficult works written in the 20th century: the Second Cantate, Opus 31, of Anton Webern.

Webern, the first pupil of Arnold Schoenberg (the originator of the twelve-tone system), died in 1945 as the little-known composer of a handful of extremely short works, most of them less than ten minutes in duration. But since his death, his pointillist miniatures have substantially altered the course of contemporary music, influencing everyone from such aging masters as Igor Stravinsky to the current "enfants terribles" of contemporary music: Karlheinz Stockhausen and Pierre Boulez. Webern's fragmented style, and his extension of twelve-tone organizational methods to the non-pitch dimensions of timbre and dynamics, precipitated the whole post-war avant-garde trend towards "totally-organized" music.

The 15-minute Second Cantata is Webern's last and longest work, and indicates a turn towards larger dimensions. The Princeton High School Choir not only performed it with astonishing security, but with an extraordinary degree of clarity and lyrical continuity. Musicians in the audience who had heard professional European performances of the work found this one far more accurate and musically illuminating. A comparison with the currently available recorded performance of the work, by professional singers, makes the latter seem ludicrously incompetent.

To give the American premiere of such a work is already an extraordinary thing for a high school choir to do; to give so brilliant a performance where professionals have failed is nothing short of miraculous.

Bach Mass Sung. The concert also included the Gloria section of Bach's B-minor Mass, which the choir sang with no less skill and insight. Each line emerged with lucidity and direction, and the long, difficult melismas were clearly articulated without a trace of the "ha-ha-ha" type of singing to which so many choirs unfortunately resort.

The soloists, drawn from the ranks of the choir, were Durant Robertson, bass; Marcia Ramsey, soprano; and Elizabeth Dinsmore, soprano. All performed admirably, but the remarkable musicianship of Durant Robertson deserves special mention. The piano accompaniments, by Sylvia Nichols in the Webern and Mathilde McKinney in the Bach, were skillfully executed; although it is a pity that funds could not be found to hire instrumentalists for the Webern Cantata. This was a minor lack, however, in comparison to the choir's achivement.

The abilities of the Princeton High School Choir have always astonished this reviewer, but the performance of the Webern Second Cantata is even more spectacular than their past accomplishments; it is almost unbelievable. The choir's conductor, Thomas Hillbish, must be a wizard.

Those who were unable to attend the premiere of this important and absorbing work will have a second chance: the Webern Cantata will be repeated on a concert which will include compositions by Princeton University graduate students, to be given this Friday, April 21, in Cilo Hall at 8:30 p.m. No person seriously interested in music today, or in the musical life of the community, can afford to miss this extraordinary event.

SOLOISTS NAMED

For Bach Cantata. Soloists for the Bach cantata No. 198, "The Trauerode," to be presented at the Princeton Methodist Church Sunday night at 8 will include Thelma Young, soprano; Barbara Hilbish, contralto; Robert Holland, tenor, and Fadloun Shehadi, bass.

Thomas Hilbish will direct the Methodist Church Choir in this unusual presentation of the 1727 cantata, which will be based on the original orchestration insofar as possible. In-

Music Festival Set

A festival of sacred music will be given Sunday, April 30, at 5:30 p.m. in Palmer Stadium of Princeton University under the sponsorship of Westminster Choir College. Choirs from churches within a 150-mile radius of Princeton will participate.

Dr. John Finley Williamson, founder and president emeritus of the Choir College, will be guest conductor. Organist will be Dr. Alexander McCurdy, head of the organ departments of the Choir College and Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia.

This will be one of 30 choral festivals to be staged throughout the country this Spring by graduates of the Choir College.

struments will include a viola da gamba, to be played by Allson Fowle and Jose Berger, and an oboe d'amore, to be played by Judith Martin and Basil Reeves. Other members of the orchestra will be Joseph Kovacs, first violin; Janet Grundler, second violin; Elizabeth Welcker, viola; A. Kunrad Kvam, 'cello; and Dorothy Stritesky, flute.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET

Next Wednesday Evening. The Princeton Music Club will meet next Wednesday, April 26, at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Strunsky, 164 Hodge Road.

The musical program will be by Miss Alice Artzt, Miss Ruth McLinn, Mrs. Sylvia Nichols and Miss Dorothy Stritesky. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. H. W. Holly, Mrs. C. McKim Norton and Mrs. J. Barkley Rosser.

LIKE TO SING?

Men's Glee Club Planned. Any man in the Princeton community who is interested in singing is invited to join the new Men's Glee Club now being formed by the Princeton YMCA.

The group will be directed by Paul Assenheimer and will meet each Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Y. Men who would like to join may call the Y office at WA 4-4825.

STUDENTS TO PERFORM

In Piano Recital. Seven pupils of Mrs. Naomi Jury Chandler will give a piano recital at Mrs. Chandler's home on Westcott Road Saturday at 3. Those who will perform are Mary Linn Stellenwerf, Brenda Turnbull, Sally Rechif, Rachel Kurshan, Sandra Bogdanoff, Verna Groo, Constance Moore, Rebecca Sampson, Linda Blattenberger and Bonnie Schrader.

On Sunday at 3, five boys will be heard in recital at Mrs. Chandler's home. They are Timothy Mount, Neil Kurshan, Robert Cohen, Daryl Goodrich and Joseph McKee.

APRIL APPAREL: Preview of fashion show to be presented following luncheon Tuesday at April Annual of Association of New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute is staged by three of the show's models. Posed in front of the tennis pavilion of Princeton University, they are (left to right) Mrs. William Sayen 3rd of Princeton, Mrs. Thomas Blackwell of Pennington and Mrs. James Laughlin of Princeton. Fashion show, featuring clothes from Mayme Mead, will be just one feature of the April Annual, which will open at 10:30 a.m. with a bazaar. Proceeds will go to the institute.

TWO ON THE ISLE

Hawaii. If your idea of an island vacation is a week in Manhattan, you can get off the boat right here. We're going to Hawaii, following the thoughtful suggestion of Travelex, 195 Nassau. Hawaii is only five hours from the Pacific Coast by jet, so why wait?

TWA would rather have you jet to Europe on one of the many tours they offer, served up piping hot in 10-day to 51-day style. We're going on the 51-day kind, that costs $1511.20 economy class. Already we have the 20c. With this one, you get England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and France. What else is there?

The Gripsholm, most glamorous of all cruise ships, cruises to the North Cape this summer (including Russia), and although you should make these long cruise reservations about four or five months ahead for the prime choice of accommodations, you might see if the Gripsholm can take you on. Forty-seven days, 25 ports, midnight sun.

Incidentally, on these long cruises, you can take practically all the clothes you own because the ship has plenty of storage room. For brief junkets inland when the ship docks, you merely pack an overnight bag. (Cruises, by the way, are about $150 per person per week, up to $500.)

The Norwegian American Line offers a northern cruise, too, featuring Moscow, London and Paris. (Sure Paris is "north". Ever talk to a man from Marseilles?)

KLM, Royal Dutch Airlines, suggests a cruise through Holland in your own chartered yacht, winding your way through canals, wide lakes, past farmlands, windmills, sea towns and villages. Weekly yacht rentals from $40.70. River tours are becoming popular, especially along such rivers as the Rhine or the Thames. A leisurely way to relax and absorb scenery at the same time.

Holland American has in store for you a Labor Day cruise to the Bahamas, the Netherlands Antilles, Jamaica or Haiti and the Colombian National Tourist Board wants you to take a steamboat cruise on the Magdalena River, a trip which will take you to Bogota, Cartagena, Barranquilla and Panama City. We like the part where you loaf "under the orchid-laden shade trees."

Travelex is ready—are you?

bers of "The Shaggy Dog" cast are in attendance, including Tommy Kirk (does he ever go to school?). Keenan Wynn nearly steals the picture with a characterization of the classic movie villain. Recommended.

THE GARDEN

It Happened in Broad Daylight (April 18-22) is a brilliantly effective German crime film. Written by Friedrich Duerrenmatt — who also wrote "The Visit," the dark and powerful Broadway show in which Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne starred — the film is directed by Heinz Ruhmann.

Set in Zurich, Switzerland, the story concerns the grim, methodical hunt by police for a psychopathic killer who has, and seems to be having twisted fun baiting his pursuers. Ladislao Vajda's cool, tight direction produces an aura of cumulative horror which is likley to keep you sitting up straight.

The final scenes, in which a reluctant young lady is set out to tempt the madman to strike again, rank with the most gripping moments in the history of suspense drama. The picture is not suggested for the younger set. Recommended.

A Night to Remember (April 24), a two-year-old film based on Walter Lord's best-seller about the demise of the Titanic, is an affecting, if sometimes melodramatic, piece of work. Produced by Kenneth More, Ronald Allen and Robert Ayres.

The social and philosophical overtones of the sinking of the ship that supposedly represented scientific man's final conquest of the seas are indicated in the film, along with the obvious drama of a disaster that cost more than 1500 lives. The drama focuses on a small number of representative people, studying their reactions and watching their fates. Spliced-in newsfilms of the actual ship assist in creating the air of authenticity that underscores the film's most powerful moments. Recommended.

I'm All Right Jack (April 25-29), a jaundiced look at labor-management relations, is the most biting satire in which Peter Sellers has appeared. The portraits of the half-educated shop steward whose pastor Marxism is constantly at odds with his good nature and the pompous, conniving corporate executives are caricatures, but the element of truth is evident enough to cause some spectators to writhe in their seats at each showing. Ian Carmichael and Terry-Thomas are also featured in this Boulting Brothers production.

The moral of the film is that by becoming too immersed in their workaday roles as workers and managers, people have forgotten that they are human beings first and producers only incidentally. Carmichael, as the blundering young man who tries the business world and finds that his qualities of honesty, generosity and loyalty are in danger of crippling the nation's economy, finally decides to rejoin his aging but serene uncle at a nudist camp, where life seems a bit more sensible.

The film is handled with infectious good humor, and some of the scenes have the stinging relevance of a good Herblock cartoon: at one point Sellers, incensed by a threatened change in personnel policy, draws himself up self-righteously and assures an executive: "We cannot accept the principle that incompetence is a proper ground for dismissal." Needless to say, the entire seasoned cast equits itself admirably in this thoroughly likable comic sermon. Recommended.

walk on one side. Then, when we put a sidewalk on the other side, we could assess both sides again. It could be much fairer all around."

Policy Change Sought. Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini was directed to write neighboring municipalities, Lawrence Township in particular, to ask for their support in urging the state to change the law in this respect.

Committeeman William Marvel asked whether Mr. Hersh, and other corner property owners, couldn't obtain from the Township some assessment relief. Attorney Gordon Griffin said that the law clearly stated that sidewalk assessments had to be made on a front footage basis.

In the North Harrison matter which was a 100 percent assessment against the property holders, Committeeman Marvel urged Committee to reconsider and to abide by the 50-50 principle of assessment. He said that the sidewalks in question were close enough to Valley Road and Princeton High Schools (six - tenths of a mile and half a mile, respectively, according to a map produced by Township Engineer James Breth) and essential enough to foot traffic into the Princeton Shopping Center to be financed, in part, by the Township.

"I hate to see the chief'traffic generator' — that is, the Shopping Center, get the benefit of this 50 percent arrangement," commented Committee man John S. Mount, "but I agree."

Committee then voted unanimously to accept the assessor's report but to correct the assessment of that property owner will pay half and the Township half.

The Sycamore Road assessment is $3,314.51 and the North Harriaon assessment is $2416.95.

In other business, Committee Introduced an ordinance to widen Franklin Avenue to 30 feet from Snowden Lane to Tee-Air Place. W.B. Butterworth, 240 Snowden Lane, protested saying that drivers should accommodate themselves to narrower streets, rather than streets being widened to accommodate fast drivers.

Committee also passed an ordinance appropriating an additional $5,000 for the Herrontown Road-Herrontown Circle sewer to settle negotiations with the contractor over extra work which had risen in the course of construction.

Public hearings were set for Monday, May 1, at 8 p.m. for the ordinance on Franklin Avenue, the additional Herrontown appropriation and assessor's reports on Witherspoon, Prospect Avenue, Mountain Avenue and Riverside Drive West sewers. Public hearings will be held on May 15 on the assessor's reports on paving and curbing for Tyson Lane and Prospect Avenue paving and curbing.

HEACOCK TO RETIRE

From University Post. Dr. Frank A. Heacock, 202 Prospect Avenue, chairman of the university's department of graphics and engineering drawing since 1923, will retire at the close of this academic year and will be succeeded as departmental chairman by Dr. S.M. Slaby.

An authority on engineering graphics, Dr. Heacock joined the Princeton faculty in 1923. He is a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute with the class of 1915.

Dr. Slaby came to Princeton in 1952 after service as an engineer with the Ford Motor Company and Republic Aviation. Like Dr. Heacock he is an authority on engineering graphics and studied the subject in Norway under a fellowship. He has also visited the USSR to confer on his specialty with engineers in the Soviet Union.

60 YEARS TO BE MARKED

By Visiting Nurse Group. The Princeton Visiting Nurse Association will celebrate its 60th anniversary with a reception next Saturday, April 29. The reception will be held from 4 to 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norton Smith, 573 Kingston Road.

Expected to attend are the mayors of both municipalities, the members of both boards of health, the directors and chairmen of health and welfare agencies, former members of the Association's board of directors and committee, and friends of the Association.

URBANIZATION TOPIC

Of Little Lectures. "Myth and Reality in the Problems of Urbanization" is the subject of the two-part Stafford Little lecture series, to be given by Dr. Raymond Vernon at 8 p.m. this Monday and Tuesday. The titles of the two talks, to be held at 10 McCosh Hall, are "How Real Are Our Urban Problems?" and "How Should We Alter Our Urban Environment?".

Dr. Vernon is professor of international trade and investment at Harvard University's graduate school of business administration. He is the author of two books on urban problems, and was a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission from 1935 to 1946.

LESTER NAMED

To Head Department. Richard A. Lester, 121 Broadmead, has been appointed chairman of the economics department at Princeton, succeeding Dr. Lester V. Chandler, 88 Westerly Road, who will spend the next academic year as visiting professor of economics at the University of Bombay.

An authority in the field of labor economics, Dr. Lester combined teaching with service in various governmental posts. A graduate of Yale with the class of 1929, he joined the Princeton faculty in 1945 and became chairman of the department in 1948. Dr. Chandler succeeded him as chairman in 1955.

BOOK FAIR COMES

To Valley Road. The annual Book Fair sponsored by the P.T.A. of Valley Road school will be held next Monday through Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the library of the school. At the Fair, students may examine books, old and new, and buy the ones they would like to have. Proceeds will be used for P.T.A. projects, including the scholarship fund for a Township student.

Mrs. Simon Marcson and Mrs. Heinz Heinemann are co-chairmen of the Fair. Their assistants are Mrs. Harvey Cohn, Mrs. Herman Cohen, Mrs. Thomas Cox, Mrs. Robert M. Derrow, Mrs. Jules Hallum, Mrs. Joseph Hirschberg, Mrs. Richard Honig, Mrs. Oliver Karraker, Mrs. J. Murray Kempton and Mrs. Charles McKee.

Also Mrs. Edward Morgan, Mrs. James Sayeh, Mrs. Kenneth Wakefield, Mrs. John Weld, Mrs. Gladys White, Mrs. Charles Widman, Mrs. Robert Wright, Mrs. John O. Green, Mrs. Mortimer Feldman, Mrs. George Warfield, Mrs. L.J. Hackenberg, Mrs. Jerome Lawson, Mrs. O.W. Reke and Mrs. John Kennedy.

THREE WIN CONTEST

With Essays on "Safety."

Three junior high school students, two at Valley Road and one at St. Paul's, have been named the winners of the essay contest on safety, sponsored by the Princeton Post of the American Legion.

They are Lorean D. Thomas of 70 Riverside Drive, in the 8th grade at St. Paul's, and Laura Bradshaw of 47 Locust Lane, and Alan G. Kelley of 213 Hun Road, both in the 7th grade at Valley Road.

The contest was conducted by the Post's safety committee, whose chairman is Lt. Peter J. McCrohan. Other members are Norman Servis and Henry J. Frank, Post commander. About 100 essays were submitted by students at Witherspoon, St. Paul's and Valley Road.

The essays were judged by Arthur T. Brokaw, Fred H. Klink, Clifford M. Shaub, Lt. McCrohan and Mr. Frank. The three Princeton entries will be judged with those from 12 other posts in Mercer County, and three county winners will be named on May 8. Seven prize winners on the state level will come from 63 county entries.

MEET YOUR CANDIDATES

Republican Clubs Sponsor.

Republican candidates in the Borough and Township, as well as county candidates will be at the Nassau Inn next Thursday, April 27, at 8:15 p.m. to meet Princeton residents. The meeting is sponsored by the Princeton Republican Club and the Women's Republican Club of Princeton.

Present will be Henry S. Patterson 2d, running for Borough Mayor; Alan W. Carrick and Joseph R. Wood, candidates for Borough Council; and William L. Wilson, Township Committee candidate. John E. Kuser, who will run for the office of Freeholder, will also be at the meeting.

DICKEY HONORED

By Hook and Ladder Co.

Princeton Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1 has passed a resolution in honor of Horace A. Dickey who died March 31.

Mr. Dickey was a member of the Company and of the Exempt Firemen's Association of New Jersey. For over 30 years he was superintendent of equipment at the Mercer County Work House.

The resolution said, in part, "We have suffered the loss of a member who endeared himself to us all, by his loyalty to our cause, by his ever ready willingness to help, by his genial disposition, and by his generous spirit of which he gave so cheerfully in our behalf."

The resolution was submitted for the Company by R. J. Anderson, R. B. Knowles, W. J. Toole and E. L. Wilbur.

FOUR LOSE LICENSES

For Speeding, Points.

Three Princeton area drivers have had their licenses revoked for 30 days under the state's 60-70 excessive speed rule. They are Peter G. Cook, 46, of Heathcote Farm, Kingston; George H. Watkins, 35, of 46 Raleigh Road Franklin Park; and Alexander Kuthraff, 35, of Monmouth Junction.

Stephen P. O'Connell, 32, of 54 Kingsley Road, Franklin Park, had his license suspended for a month under the point system.

AWARD TO MEYNER

From Federalists.

Governor Meyner has received the Woodrow Wilson Peace Award presented by the United World Federalists of New Jersey to the New Jersey citizen who, in the opinion of the Federalists, has made the greatest contribution to the ides of world peace through world law.

Governor Meyner's speeches on UN charter revision and enforceable disarmament were cited as the basis for the award. Lynn Hoisington, 9, daughter of Harland W. Hoisington, Jr., chairman of the Princeton Chapter, UWF, presented the award to the governor.

Princeton residents who were present at the award dinner were Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Butler, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Furman, Mr. and Mrs. Hoisington, Dr. and Mrs. DeWitt H. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smoyer. Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Howell of Pennington were also present.

FASHION SHOW PLANNED

At Jewish Center.

The Women's Division of the Jewish Center of Princeton will hold its fourth annual Spring Luncheon and Fashion Show on Wednesday, May 10 at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

Committee chairmen for the show and luncheon are Mrs. Nathan Kesrel, fashions; Mrs. Meyer Goldstein, luncheon; Mrs. Simon Yeffee, gourmet table; Mrs. Sidney Sternberg, tables and decorations; and Mrs. Milton Winters, publicity and invitations. Mrs. Reuben Cohen is coordinator of all committees.

Tickets are $3.50 and may be obtained from Mrs. Wintere.

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think anything constructive can be accomplished by the trial of Adolf Eichmann?

Where asked: Princeton Shopping Center.

Robert E. Richardson, 220-D Harrison Street, graduate student, English: Yes, I think it can be because I feel he has to be tried by some source and I think his trial — and almost certain conviction — will help act as a deterrent to future genocide. It's the age-old story of why we punish criminals: not so much to punish them as to warn others from committing the same crime.

Mrs. George E. Turner, Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, housewife: Not really, no. I don't think you can blame any one man. Granted he's guilty but he was only following government orders. I think they're going to bring the whole horrible mess in front of everyone's eyes again and accomplish nothing but a lot of heartache and turmoil.

Bernard Weinstein, 86 Nassau Street, owner of Princeton Stationers: In a sense, yes. Putting him to death wouldn't solve anything. I think he should be sentenced to life imprisonment. I say this in a sense in that it is no worse to kill Jewish people than it is any race of peoples. We are setting an example of Eichmann, but there are many more still likely at large that are just as guilty as Eichmann. This is why I think he should be kept alive: to remind the world that the search for the others yet uncaught should never stop.

Alexander "Sandy" Williamson, Witherspoon Hall, University senior: I think the trials of these Nazi war criminal trials has been going downward since the Nurenberg trials. I think the people of West Germany are getting used to these things and the shock is wearing off. They are making less and less of an impression as the years go by. Obviously Eichmann was responsible in one way or another. But he can't pay five million times for the lives that were lost. Legally he is being tried ex post facto. They have a moral right but no legal right to try him. Of course, when crimes of this magnitude are involved, the fine points of legality are obscured. I suppose the trial will accomplish some good, but I don't think it will have any bomb-shattering effect on the people of West Germany.

Creswell G. Blakeney, 175 Clover Lane, retired Army Colonel: No. It tends to break down the concept of legality. After all, he's being tried on an ex post facto basis which, I think, is wrong and tends, therefore, to reduce the concept of rule by law which the United States has been famous for upholding since its founding.

Mrs. Ernest Bolze, Burnt Hill Road, Blawenburg, housewife: Yes, but I would have preferred that it have been held under an international tribunal. I think more good would have been accomplished. I feel the world would have had a fuller participation and a fuller realization of the matter rather than it being retribution by the Jewish people themselves.

Richard Bube, 56 Robert Road, physicist: Insofar as a measure of justice against crimes against humanity can be achieved, then the trail is probably necessary. But if the trial has as one of its prominent motives, revenge or a desire to get even, then this will detract from its general moral affect.

Mrs. Harold M. Schroder, 64 Wittmer Court, housewife: No, I don't think so. I think it is just raking up things that are best forgotten.

John N. Kenyon, 338 State Road, research engineer; I'm inclined to think we're too quick to forget the Nazi atrocities and this trial will serve to bring those memories back. I don't think the Germans were 100 percent free of blame. I think Eichmann deserves the same treatment that Goering and the other top Nazi war criminals got. I think Eichmann will get an impartial trial.

Mrs. Margaret LaCarnha, 11 Edward Court, Trenton, receptionist: I feel it is a necessity and people have to hear about it. As long as their memories are refreshed about the horrors the Nazis committed, it might have some influence on their ideas on dictators, communism, etc. I think people are inclined to forget too quickly anything unpleasant.

John Van Seters, R.D. 1, Griggstown, Princeton Seminary student: I think that too much attention is being called to the past evils of the German peoples and a rather self-righteous attitude is being taken by the rest of the world. I think particularly this is apparent in the Israeli government, who have not at all shown the proper attitude toward the Arabs. I think they have done a great injustice to the Arabs by the way they have created the Israel state. Some of the things they did were anything but humane. The trial could point out man's inhumanity to man, but so often we point the finger at the other person instead of using it as a self examination. We would never identify ourselves with the Nazis who have done these atrocities.

Mrs. Diana Chow, 66 Deer Path, housewife: I think so. It will give the people an example that evil people always get brought to justice in the end. I think Eichmann should be executed. But whether he is or not is less important than the reason for the trial — that justice be served.

Henry J. Smith, Rocky Hill-Blawenburg Road, associate pastor of Methodist Church: Yes, I think that calling attention of the public to the conditions under which he op-

THEY TEACH AT HOME

And Face State Action. Two Princeton Junction parents have begun a battle with state and municipal education officials because they would rather teach their three children at home than send them to public or private school.

Dr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Trifan, Lillie Street, are the parents of three talented children: Marioara, 11, Daniel, 9 and Richard, 7. The children have been taught at home by their parents and are now about three grades ahead of where they would normally be in a public school.

They could read at 3 and do third grade arithmetic, reading and writing at the age of 6. In addition, they have considerable musical talent and have been taught piano, violin and composition by their father.

The Trifans will appear this Friday before West Windsor magistrate A.C. Reeves Hicks for their second hearing. They were summoned before the magistrate two weeks ago as disorderly persons because of their refusal to send their children to public school. No decision was reached at the first hearing and it is not known whether a definitive answer will be given at this hearing.

Mrs. Trifan serves as teacher for her children, using the Calvert home study courses for the two youngest children and the American School of Chicago high school course for 11-year-old Marioara. At present, Marioara is in the ninth grade; nine-year-old Daniel is in the 7th grade and seven-year-old Richard is in the fifth grade. None of the children has ever gone to school.

The case came to light last fall when the Trifans were acquired by the American School to obtain permission from local school authorities before Marioara could begin the high-school program offered by the correspondence school. Since Marioara would normally attend Princeton High School, Mrs. Trifan wrote to Borough Schools Superintendent Chester A. Stroup who referred her request to Francis Walton, superintendent of West Windsor Schools. Marioara was given Stanford Achievement tests at the eighth grade level, and Mr. Stroup said that, although she was qualified to do ninth grade work, she was too young socially for 14-year-old Princeton High School freshmen.

All three children have been given intelligence, personality and achievement tests and have made high scores down the line. However, the Trifans do not like to have their children referred to as "geniuses."

"No child has earned the right to be called 'genius'," says Mrs. Trifan. "We would have educated our children at home whatever their I.Q.'s."

School Days. The school day begins at 8 a.m. at the Trifan home with two hours of piano and violin practice. One piano is in the living-room and a second is in a "studio" building behind the house. At 11, after a five-minute break, the children begin either Russian lessons or music-writing assignments. Whichever is not done in the morning is done that evening.

Lunch is from noon to 1 p.m. Then from 1 p.m. until 4:30, there is school, with arithmetic, geography, history, English grammar, composition and science. Each child has his own desk and Mrs. Trifan has a big desk. The children, who are in different grades, of course, come to her individually for instruction and answers.

At 4:30, or at 4, if the weather is particularly fine, all three go outdoors to play. In the evening, two children do Russian or "homework" (probably arithmetic) while one has a piano lesson from Dr. Trifan. He teaches two children each evening, alternating his pupils

IT'S LESSON TIME: Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Trifan—are the teachers for their three children and they have recently been under fire from state and West Windsor school authorities for refusing to send the children to school. All three, Marioara, 11; Daniel, 9 and Richard 7, are ahead of their normal school grade, all three are talented musicians. Daniel has just completed the first movement of a horn concerto, not because he plays the horn (he doesn't even own one and has never played the instrument), but just because he finds it fascinating as an instrument. Story this page, (Staff Photo.)

For two years, Marioara has been a student at the Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, where she has classes all day three days a week. Two weeks ago, she played one of the two pianos in Saint-Saens' "Carnival of the Animals" with the Philadelphia Orchestra and next year, as winner of an audition, she will play with the orchestra again. Her father supervises her home practice sessions.

The children follow a five-day, nine-month schedule, with occasional homework for Marioara on Saturdays and violin lessons for all three on Sunday mornings.

For recreation, they play basketball and baseball with neighborhood children and take swimming lessons in the Princeton University Pool. Dr. Trifan is a research associate in the chemistry department at the University.

All three children are outgoing, gregarious and talkative, full of questions and eager to get into conversations

Where Republicans Are Found.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

I hope I do not begrudge a Republican any moment in which Providence permits him to see, however dimly, what is actually going on about him in the world; but when, as you report in the last issue of your paper, Mr. Alexander Smith in his silver-tongued way declares that his Party "leaves no stone unturned to find its candidates," I am sure I no more than express the universal shock that his pleasure in finding a felicitous phrase should have betrayed him into such hyperbole. For surely, Sir, he our impression what it may, not all Republican candidates come before us from under their stones: the woodwork and many another provenance must have been ransacked by Mr. Erdman and his like to have dazzled our vision as they do with their profusion.

I conceive, Sir, then, that we may express the more general view if we conclude that Mr. Smith, from long Republican habit, spoke less to convey meaning than to ventilate his feelings — this is by all odds the kindlier view, and to my thinking, Sir, maior sit quam facultates herigniias, Tully in his Offices notwithstanding.

A Letter From Nigeria.
Dear Hon. Editor:

A well heartedly greetings from an independent Nigeria which has promised to make friendship with Americans and also promised not to follow the way of Communism.

I am an African lad, 19 years old, 5 ft. 8 ins. tall and weigh 145 lbs. I am seeking friends in America and do tradings with them regardless of age, sex, race and creed.

The African articles include ebony carvings of elephants and human figures, letters openers, ivory earrings, wall carvings, masks, daggers, knives. All type of animal skins including tiger, leopard, zebra, jaguar and antelope skins; alligator skin handbags, portfolios, slippers, wallets and billfolds. Deerskin handbags with shoulder straps for ladies.

In return for lightweight pants, wash and wear shirts, dressing shirts, design T. shirts, sweaters, wide belts, socks, shoes, ties and jackets, all of medium sizes.

My joy shall have no bound if you could kindly favour me with the publishing of this my letter in your widely-read journal.

May God Almighty bless you all and govern your efforts. Amen.

Thanks!

Care for the Aged Backed.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Permit me to challenge the assumption (in your "Man of the Week" article on Princeton Hospital adjustministrator John Kauffman) that President Kennedy's proposal to provide hospitalization and related services to the elderly through social security is without "friends" in Princeton. Surely, no one can regard as especially daring or radical a plan which has the support of such "friendless" individuals as Clifford P. Case or, for that matter, Life magazine or the Newark Evening News.

On the other hand, I become distinctly unfriendly when I read that Mr. Kauffman believes that there is something wrong with seeking solutions to important questions of this nature "On a political basis." The implication appears to be that anything which is handled by the elected representatives of the people is necessarily badly handled—an implication without basis in fact and one that strongly seems to serve as a rationalization for less, rather than more, citizen participation in politics.

Mr. Kauffman, however well-versed he may be in matters of hospital financing, should reconsider his attitudes toward the democratic process.

LAWRENCE O. HOUSTOUN Jr.
73 Harriet Drive

Editor's Note: There was no assumption, for it is manifest that "care of the aged through the social security mechanism" has many supporters in Princeton, including one of the principal architects of the Kennedy Administration's proposals. Neither Mr. Kauffman, nor the editor concerned, had any intention of casting aspersions on the capacities and understanding of the elected representatives of the people; both share Reader Houstoun's strong faith in the democratic process.

"Public Defender" Urged.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

The undersigned, having closely observed the Urban Renewal procedures followed at the Borough Planning Board's meeting of Tuesday, April 11, suggest that, in fairness, a correction be made in the Board's practice which now refuses to permit cross-examination of the municipality's witnesses by the attorneys representing those persons whose homes and properties are at stake. We submit that the right of cross-examination in the interest of determing truth is so basic to our system of law that the denial of that opportunity will inevitably raise the most serious doubts as to the fairness of the Borough's procedure and any resulting decisions.

We believe that those opposing a finding of "Blight" should be permitted, at least, to nominate a single attorney entitled to protect their interests by cross-examining the experts called by the Planning Board. We further recommend that Council and the Planning Board consider the wisdom and fairness of the Borough's paying the counsel fees of such an attorney, whose function, as we conceive it, would be somewhat akin to that of a public defender.

"We will not send them to public school," states Mrs. Trifan, "no matter what!"

AUCTION SCHEDULED

Of Matthews Estate. The estate of the late Mrs. William R. Matthews will be sold at public auction at the Matthews home, 177 Library Place, next Saturday, April 29, beginning at 9 a.m., rain or shine. Lester M. Slatoff of Trenton will be auctioneer at the sale, which has been ordered by the First National Bank of Princeton, co-executors of the estate.

The items to be sold, which include furnishings, silver and china from the 10-room house, will be on exhibit this Sunday and Monday from 1 to 6 p.m. daily. Those visiting the exhibit will be asked to make a donation of $1 per couple, which will go to the Irving W. Mershon Scholarship Fund of Princeton Borough Teachers Association.

The estate represents a lifetime collection of important American antiques, including such pieces as a rare Duncan Phyfe sofa with incurved, reeded arms and ray-and-swag-carved back rail; a small bonnet-top walnut highboy with shell-carved upper and lower drawers; a pair of rare joint stools dating from 1730, and a set of six original Philadelphia pierced ladderback dining chairs.

Other items to be sold include two canopy beds; 25 oriental rugs; a collection of mirrors; a Knabe grand piano; an antique American silver tea set; Limoges and Lenox chins; a pair of rare Sandwich glass amethyst vases; Currier and Ives prints; garden and game room furniture and electric appliances.

RUMMAGE PLANNED

For Hospital Aid. The Hospital Aid Rummage Sale, held each spring, will begin Monday at noon at the Harrison Street Firehouse. Furniture only will be sold on Monday from noon to 5 p.m.

On Tuesday, from 8 to 5, furniture and kitchenware will be sold. On Wednesday from 10 to 5, toys, shoes, books and any remaining furniture will be offered for sale and on Thursday from 9:30 to 8, women's, men's and children's clothing; bric-a-brac, hats bags, jewelry and draperies will be for sale.

Mrs. John W. Brown is in charge of the sale. Her assistants are Mrs. Nathan Hower, Mrs. William Barthron, Mrs. Scott Frampton, Mrs. Harry Olson, Mrs. Marshall Sittig, Mrs. Roy Jackson, Mrs. John B. Nelson, Mrs. Florence Rockwell and Mrs. Maurice Kelley.

Committee women are Mrs. T. T. Wilkinson, Mrs. P. G. Herkart, Mrs. Archibald Crossley, Mrs. Charles Mueller, Mrs. Elmer Greey, Mrs. S. C. Patterson, Mrs. William H. ciated, not only Eichmann's guilt but the guilt of the whole Nazi outfit, is worthwhile.

John Juhosz, Carteret, N.J., applications engineer: First off, I think it's too glorified, too much publicity attends it. If my memory serves, I don't think the Nurenberg trials were so highly publicized. Of course at that time, we didn't have the communications media that we have at the present time. As far as the actual butchery Eichmann committed, he should be tried for it and as quickly as possible. The only constructive aspect of the trial, as I see it, is that due process of justice is being served.

Mrs. Sylvan G. Busbey, 68 Randall Road, housewife: I certainly think he should be tried and convicted. The trial then would serve as a lesson to other nations.

BIRTH LIST

Two Sets of Twins Born. Twin boys and boy and girl twins were born to two area families last week in Princeton Hospital. Altogether the Hospital listed 19 arrivals, ten boys and nine girls.

Twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schmidt, Route 27, on April 14. Boy and girl twins were born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schell, 41 Edgemere Avenue, Plainsboro, on April 10.

PEOPLE In The News

Richard T. Frost of 80 Wheatsheaf Lane, assistant professor of politics at Princeton University, has accepted the position of associate professor and assistant to the president at Reed College, Portland, Oregon, effective in September. A Princeton resident since 1956, Mr. Frost was a Democratic candidate for Princeton Township Committee in 1959 and 1960 and served as secretary to the majority leader of the New Jersey Senate. He was also staff director in 1958 of the Governor's Commission on state institutions and welfare agencies.

Among those attending the Beta Province Convention of Kappa Kappa Gamma Fraternity, held at Allenberry, Boiling Springs, Pa., was Mrs. Albert Elsasser of 128 Broadmead. Mrs. Elsasser was a delegate from the Mercer County Kappa Alumnae Club.

William E. Ackley, an instructor at Princeton Country Dey School, has accepted a teaching position beginning next September at the Cardigan Mountain School for Boys, Canaan, N. H. Under the leadership of Rowland W. Burbank, Cardigan is considered one of the foremost of New England junior boarding schools, where the students and staff members play an integral part in the community affairs of the town of Canaan.

Edwin T. Rose of 37 Hawthorne Avenue has been awarded a gold emblem denoting completion of 25 years service with Public Service Electric and Gas Company. Mr. Rose is supervisor-service in the Princeton Commercial Office.

Miss Elsbeth Glockner, daughter of Mrs. Anna Glockner of 237 Moore Street, was one of nine New Jersey students attending Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., who gave a reception at the college for Governor Robert B. Meyner, keynote speaker at the college's annual political emphasis week.

Professor Victor Lange, chairman of the Department of Germanic Languages at Princeton University, delivered the Guy Stanton Ford Lectures this month at the University of Minnesota. Professor Lange, whose speciality is the literature of the Goethe period and contemporary German literature, spoke on "Modes of Criticism" and discussed poetic, historical and linguistic theories of interpretation.

Two Princeton residents were among Mount Holyoke College students receiving recognition for academic distinction at the college's annual honors convocation. They are Miss Elizabeth Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Davidson of 253 Herrontown Road, and Miss Dorothy Ann Wood, daughter of Commander and Mrs. Joseph R. Wood of 116 Moore Street. Miss Davidson received the Mary Vance Young scholarship to spend her junior year in Cumae, Italy, and Miss Wood was awarded the Joseph A. Skinner fellowship for graduate study in art history at Columbia University.

The Rev. Dr. Walter D. Wagoner of 4 Hunter Road has been appointed chairman of the United Negro College Fund appeal in Princeton. The Rev. Dr. Wagoner, who is executive director of the Fund for Theological Education, succeeds the Rev. David H. McAlpin, Jr., who has headed the Princeton volunteer effort for the United Negro College Fund for the last several years. The fund will seek $2,250,000 nationally this year for 32 private, accredited colleges and universities in the South.

Speaker at the annual meeting of the Council of the Friends of the Smith College Library, held in Northampton, Mass., was William S. Dix, librarian of Princeton University. Among those attending was Mrs. Willard Thorp of 428 Nassau Street, a Smith alumna and a member of the Council.

Four Princeton area residents were among members of the Princeton-Trenton-Delaware Valley Alumnae Association who attended the Delta Gamma Province II conference at Gettysburg College, Gettysburg, Pa. They are Mrs. Elmer E. Chase of 22 Hamilton Avenue, Province collegiate secretary; Mrs. Ray S. Bryan of Rosedale Road, Association president, and Mrs. James C. Villwock and Mrs. Alexander P. Robinson of Franklin Park.

James W. Brown of 552 Mercer Road, a graduate student in the Mathematics Department at the University of Michigan, has been awarded the fellowship of the Institute of Science and Technology for the coming year.

PORTRAIT PRESENTED: The Board of Education commissioned artist Peter G. Cook of Kingston to paint this portrait of B. Woodhull Davis, who retired last year as supervising principal after serving the Borough School System since 1931. It was formally accepted at a ceremony Sunday afternoon. Report from THE MAYOR

Where It Goes: The homemade charts drawn by the Mayor to simplify the details of the Borough's budget were dusted off last week at the request of Councilman Godfrey. Their new audience was the membership of the Nassau Club at their regular weekly luncheon meeting.

It is a fine thing for these groups in the community to evidence interest in the business of local government; and the questions from the Nassau Club audience indicated that they are keenly interested in the facts about our local taxes and the services they buy. Council colleague William Walker II introduced the Mayor at the session.

Investment: Part of the 1961 budget story is the appropriation of sufficient funds to accomplish the necessary borrowing for major municipal investments in public facilities planned in the coming year. Last week seemed like a continuous round of conferences and negotiations.

Out of it came the strong prospect that the off-street parking in the Vandeventer-Nassau-Moore are a (for which Council has coined the label "Nassau East") will be a reality in 1961. Only one or two parcels still require the ironing out of "ifs" and "maybes." The mood of Mayor and Council is obviously "full speed ahead."

A Social Hour: Tuesday afternoon provided a pleasant and unpretentious social occasion as the Mayor and his wife were at Merwick for tea. These senior citizens maintain a lively interest in just about everything—including some questions about items they had read in the Mayor's weekly reports.

At least one of the guests was not on hand for tea — and for good reason. The Mayor found him (at age 92) rooting for the Yankees before the television set on baseball's opening day.

On Bicycles: For more than two hours on Wednesday, representatives of the schools and colleges met with the Borough Safety Committee. Their concern: the safest possible operation of bicycles in Princeton.

An ultimate objective must be the amendment of an old ordinance on the books since 1896. If its terms were strictly enforced today, even tricyclists would find themselves subject to arrest!

A special subcommittee will now sharpen up the details of some suggestions arising from last week's session. Among the possibilities: some designated bike routes where, on one side of the street, the sidewalks might be used as safe school routes, for example.

Clean Sweep: This week is Clean Up Week in Princeton. With the help of the Chamber of Commerce the customary proclamation — this year a joint borough - township one — is being distributed. As a preliminary, the Mayor helped the Lions' Club on Saturday as a volunteer in the local broom sale, proceeds of which go for the important work of that group in the field of sight conservation.

Sales were brisk and there were plenty of laughs. Even Morven has a new broom.

Open House Schedule: This week's "Tell it to the Mayor!" session was scheduled for Wednesday, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. Next week's will be held on Thursday, April 27, at the same hours. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

Also on last week's calendar: meeting of the board of the joint public library, special sessions of Borough Council on real estate and alcoholic beverage control matters, the planning board hearing and a conference with Federal officials from the urban renewal administration.

The three-day meeting has been considering various governmental problems and deciding which ones to concentrate on during the next two-year period. The two major contenders for the post of Governor will speak at the final luncheon of the convention this Friday. It will be the first appearance of the two nominees in their campaign for the governorship.

Mrs. Manfred Rost of 644 Kingston Road served as donor chairman for Princeton Chapter, B'nai B'rith Women, in connection with the recent donor luncheon held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York. The luncheon was one of three held to raise funds for the philanthropic projects of B'nai B'rith Women, Northern New Jersey Council. Aiding Mrs. Rost in making arrangements for the luncheon were Mrs. Arnold Weiss of Hopewell and Mrs. Alvin Bonin of 80 Robert Road.

Playing the role of Sir Toby Bumper in the recent production of Sheridan's "School for Scandal" at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., was Miss Nancy Strayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Strayer of 144 Prospect Avenue. A graduate of Princeton High School, Miss Strayer is a sophomore at Mount Holyoke.

BUSINESS INDEX

The Quarterly Picture. It was one year ago, at the end of the first quarter of 1960, that TOWN TOPICS published the first of its series of four annual reports on the business scene in the Princeton community.

As it developed, 1960 was a significant year in the nation's economy, with unemployment rising to present a serious problem to many communities throughout the country, and the recession generally causing a slump in business indexes.

It has become almost axiomatic that Princeton is "different." A community without heavy industry, Princeton is dependent for its prosperity on research and educational institutions which, far from feeling depressed, are expanding and prosperous.

Other communities are plagued with unemployment; Princeton firms bewail the shortage of clerical and secretarial help. In other towns, retail establishments cut back their inventories severely and complain that business is bad. Princeton stores say it's true—business really isn't so good. One retailer said that he was off eight-tenths of one percent from 1960!

One Princeton automobile dealer recently telephoned his distributor in an urgent plea for more cars and was told by a flabbergasted middleman that such a call was unheard-of in times like these. As if to prove the point, the TOWN TOPICS Index shows new car sales up three percent over the last quarter and two percent over the last year.

In Princeton, people generally seem to be saving more than ever. The savings total for this quarter is up four percent over the fall quarter, and up 19 percent over the same quarter in 1960. Checking accounts, down three percent over the fall quarter, are still nine percent ahead of last year. Loans, too, are up, but only by 10 percent, a small figura which may reflect prosperity ("let's add a wing to the house") rather than constriction ("how can we pay the rent?")

Meter Receipts up. Parking meter receipts, up 11 percent over 1960, reflect the addition of 67 more meters to the Borough's stable. The quarterly decline of five percent can be attributed mostly to bad weather. (There was bad weather this time last year, too: between March 5 and March 7, 1960, all meters were snowed in and no collections were made.)

Sharp drops in new housing starts and building permits in Borough and Township reflect the usual seasonal decline. Most builders tend to hibernate in the winter quarter.

The various ups and downs of permits and housing starts in the Borough is a reflection of University building activity. The value of Borough building permits is down 82 percent over the fall quarter, but the fall quarter was 820 percent more than the summer quarter, because of the engineering quadrangle.

In the Township, where new building is a steadier factor, the decline from last year has been only six percent. Property transfers in the Township have been relatively stable over the past two years.

Telephones in service declined, inexplicably, over the preceding quarter, but are up one percent over 1960.

Unemployment figures show an increase of 41 percent over 1960 for this area, and the continuing claims are up by 50 percent. However, Princeton is part of the "Trenton area," so far as unemployment officials are concerned, and the figures represent a statistical computation rather than an actual count. The numerical totals (an average of 838 persons each month) probably reveal a clearer picture of unemployment in a community of some 22,000.

Princeton consumers, saving their money, buying new cars and putting pennies in parking meters, have just learned that the state price index reached a new all-time high in February—an increase of .1 percent over the previous two-month period. Based on 100 cents as of June, 1939, the New Jersey consumer dollar was worth 45.1 cents in February. A year ago, it was worth 46.4 cents.

SPADE IS TURNED

For New Howard Johnson's. Ground was broken on Monday for the new million-dollar Howard Johnson Motor Lodge-Restaurant on Route One and Franklin Road in Lawrence Township. Mayor Owen R. Healy and State Senator Sido Ridolfi officiating.

There will be 60 units, including various types of accommodations from single rooms to connecting suites. Each unit will have wall-to-wall carpeting, special bedding manufactured especially for Howard Johnson's, air-conditioning, sound-proofing and television sets. Grounds will be landscaped with private patios and terraces and a large swimming pool.

In selecting the Route One site, the restaurant-motel chain took cognizance of the fast-growing research and industrial area and designed the new complex with executive units which can accommodate businessmen who come to the Princeton - Route One community for business visits of any length.

NEW OFFICE OPENED

By Lewis C. Bowers. A new regional office has been opened by Lewis C. Bowers & Sons, Incl, in Boston, Mass. The new branch is the first one for the construction company and has been opened in order to serve the industrial New England area.

Lewis C. Bowers & Sons are designers and builders of industrial, research, office and school buildings. Princeton offices of the firm are at 341 Nassau, corner of Harrison.

In the New England area, L.C. Bowers has built Broadcast House, the first building in the new 12-acre urban renewal project in Hartford, the six-building $10-million complex being constructed for Itek Corporation in Lexington and various warehouses, research laboratories, factories and office buildings.

HOUGHTON SELLS TRACT

On Route One. Fifty-six acres on the southwest corner of Route One and Alexander Street, West Windsor, have been sold through the Houghton Real Estate Company for L. Beaumont Reed. Buyers were represented by Louis M. Golden, Jr., realtors of Philadelphia. There are no immediate plans for development. The area is zoned for light industry and research.

On Route One, the property has a 1,200 foot frontage and on Alexander Street about 800. The owner, Mr. Reed, has lived on the farm for 50 years and on Route One for most of his 80 years.

What does it mean to be rated?

Not long ago men and women with coronary artery disease, tuberculosis or diabetes were unable to obtain life insurance. Today it is possible for many of these people to be accepted in a special premium classification. Technically speaking they are said to be "rated" policyholders. For many years Manufacturers Life has contributed leadership in this special field. Today we are well known for our progressive outlook and for the favourable premium rates being offered.

Actually 90% of the people applying for Manufacturers Life policies today are accepted at regular rates. Another 8½% are offered isburance at the lowest possible cost considering their particular physical condition, while only 1½% are declined. Whatever your needs, you can be sure of progressive life insurance service when you call the Man from Manufacturers.

in the pinches, and got in trouble in the sixth only because of two consecutive outfield errors. In the eighth while protecting a 3-2 lead, a shoestring effort by centerfielder Mike Devine resulted in a leadoff triple. Phillips got the next three men on a strike out, a foul pop and a routine grounder.

Hitting strength, somewhat apparent earlier in the season, faded again last weekend as the Tigers made only five against Brown and four against Harvard. Brown was helpful in that two Tiger runs scored on a wild pitch and Harvard gave enough away to permit a Princeton victory under most normal circumstances. But nothing was normal about the game with the Crimson.

After the Fordham contest this Wednesday, City College of New York is on tap Thursday at 4. The trip to Cornell will be followed by two more league games next week — Columbia coming here Wednesday, April 26, before the Tigers head for Hanover on the 28th. Too bad Phillips can't pitch 'em all.

RAIN POSTPONES OPENER

Of PHS Nine. A water-logged diamond, replete with a few scattered puddles, brought about by a day-long rainstorm 24 hours earlier, forced Princeton High School officials to postpone Friday's baseball opener against Steinert. The game will be played May 10 at Harris Field.

The Little Tigers will now open this Thursday against Trenton Catholic on their own field. Still slated to pitch in the opener, according to coach Harry Zoll, is John Rogerson. The game will start at 3:30.

CREW RACE SATURDAY

Against Navy on Carnegie. A powerful Navy crew will row against Princeton on Lake Carnegie Saturday afternoon to open the Tiger varsity's season. In all, the program calls for eight races, the first at 3 o'clock and the others following at 10 or 15-minute intervals until the climactic event at 5.

Not only is Navy invariably one of the top three or four crews in the nation but Princeton this year is plagued with more manpower problems than usual. The midshipmen opened their season last week with a two-plus-length victory over Columbia on the Harlem River, covering the two-mile distance in 10:33 against a head wind.

Princeton hasn't won a race since it defeated Navy to open the 1958 season. Based on this year's schedule and the known strength of its 1961 opponents, plus its own shortcomings, the Orange and Black is unlikely to reverse the trend.

Brightest hope for a first place are the untried Princeton freshmen, among whom a fair degree of potential has been spotted. The Navy Plebes, however, are a rugged opening opponent and too much should not be expected of the young Tigers.

Heavyweight and 150-lb. crews down to the second freshmen boats will row in Saturday's busy program. The Tiger varsity lightweights are apparently in for as much trouble this season as the heavies, off last weekend's third place finish behind Navy and Columbia.

QUIET WEEKEND

Most Teams on the Road. Little is on the home schedule this weekend in addition to the crew races. Tiger lacrosse and tennis teams will head for West Point to play Army; the ball team travels to Ithaca to face Cornell; and a track meet is scheduled for New Brunswick with Rutgers. Harvard's golf team will play on Springdale against Harry Kinnell's linksmen, who last week won victories over Columbia, Villanova and Georgetown.

Navy topped the lacrosse team Saturday, 10-5, on Poe Field, pulling away from a 4-4 halftime tie with a four-goal surge in the final quarter. The Tigers held the visitors on even terms for three-quarters of the game but superior manpower made the eventual difference.

Easy victories were recorded in tennis (9-0) over Navy and in track, (102-38) over Columbia. Injuries are a problem in the track team's future, but hopes are that it will be strong enough to handle such opponents as Penn and Cornell, with only Harvard and Yale still out of its class.

If Princeton had one more pitcher of even average ability, the ball team might find itself able to top the .500 mark and finish in the Eastern League's first division. Wally Phillips trimmed Brown handily on Friday but the flood gates opened against Harvard (see box, page 25.)

The pitching situation hasn't been as bad in 15 years, with no one behind Phillips showing signs of ability to protect even as much as a five-run lead. The Tigers blew one of that size at Villanova last Wednesday, falling victims to a six-run seventh inning which gave the Wildcats an 8-5 victory.

Phillips handled Brown without too much trouble, going the distance to record a 4-2 triumph despite the fact that he was pounded for 11 hits. He was particularly effective

Only Sevan Again

The 1961 Princeton High School foothall team will meet, as it did last year, only seven opponents.

The first three contests will be away. As a result, the Little Tigers will not play before hometown fans until October 20. The September 30 opener against Freehold is also a week later than the team's customary opening date.

A new PHS opponent is Steinert High School. Dropped are Ewing, traditional final game in the Blue and White's schedule, and Peddie, last fall's opening opponent. Back is Hamilton, after a few years' absence.

The 1961 schedule: Sept. 30, Freehold, away; Oct. 7, Middletown away; 13, Trenton High School; away; 20, Trenton Catholic; 27, Steinert; Nov. 3, Long Branch; 11, Hamilton.

inally set for Wednesday, has been moved ahead to Thursday. The change was effected to accommodate the senior members of the team who joined classmates on the senior trip to Washington D.C.

The Princeton High School tennis team will play its first home game Friday against Somerville High School. Starting time is 3:30.

The team will play its second home game May 4 against Asbury Park. The final five games of a 12-game schedule will also he played at home. These include Long Branch, May 11; Neptune, 16; Middletown, 18; Red Bank, 23; and Freehold, 25.

MOUNTAIN VIEW OPENS

Second Green Rebuilt. Mountain View, Mercer County's public golf course, has opened for its third full season.

County Recreation Department officials have announced that the second green has been rebuilt to provide a putting surface twice that of the original. New traps have also been added to the hole.

Among the schedule innovations is the establishment of Wednesday as Ladies' Day. Larry "Skip" Ferrara, pro at Mountain View, said the course came through the winter in excellent condition and characterized spring playing conditions as very good.

FIVE EVENTS SCHEDULED

For Lawrenceville Teams. All five spring sport teams at Lawrenceville School will see action this Saturday. The one home contest will match the baseball team against Blair Academy at 2:30 p.m.

The track and lacrosse squads will open their seasons against Blair and the Maplewood Lacrosse Club, respectively. The golf team will also face Blair, while the tennis team will travel to New Haven, to take on the Yale freshmen.

Four home contests are scheduled for Wednesday. The baseball team will play the Lehigh freshmen at 2:30 and the lacrosse squad will face Hun School at 3:15. Blair and the Princeton freshmen will provide opposition for the tennis and golf teams, respectively.

The Larrie baseball team notched its second and third wins of a so-far-undefeated season last week. The Pennsylvania freshmen succumbed to the four-hit pitching of Chuck Miller as the Red and Black outscored the Quakers, 5-1. Frank Bunch was credited with the win and Miller batted in nine runs as the Larries trounced Haverford School, 13-6. Mason McGowan took over for Bunch in the fifth inning.

In its opener, the golf team lost to the Army Plebes, 5-2, at West Point.

BOWLING NOTES

Decker's Holds Slim Edge. Decker's Dairy moved one point out in front of Forsgate Country Club (77) in the tight Women's Industrial League race last week. Princeton Motor Lodge (75) and Nassau Service (74) kept the pressure on as the first four teams were all within two games of each other. In other Princeton bowling action, Craft Cleaners held a one-game margin over Applegate Floral Shop (76) in the Women's loop, and the Roses (34) were five points ahead of the Zeccolas in the Mixed League.

Shelton No. 1 continued to battle Yeoman's (60) for the top spot in the "A" circuit, coming out of last week's action two points ahead. Yeoman's, however, has a make-up series of a potential six points to roll as the league goes into its final month. Nassau Del continued to run away with the Industrial loop, holding a 15-point margin over the Crescents (36), and Prince Laundro was two games in front of Sportsmen No. 2 in the "B" League.

Helen Tamasi rolled the high women's score of 218 in the Women's Industrial loop as the ladies posted one of their best weeks. Other high games included Gladys Wheeler, 210;

Lost: The Art of Playing Baseball

What happens when two college baseball teams play each other without a single first-line pitcher available to either was painfully demonstrated Saturday afternoon by Princeton and Harvard. Both had been in league games on Friday, both used their top hurler and after that, ability tailed off rapidly.

In the third inning, a record possibly unparalleled in the history of Princeton baseball was set when Harvard stole seven bases—including two easy-as-pie thefts of home. The reason: a totally inexperienced Tiger hurler twice took a long, languid windup with the bases fully populated with Crimson runners.

Top thief was Harvard's Dick Shima, who was one of those stealing home and who was credited with four stolen bases in all during the game. Last year, the Princeton A.A. Cup, given to the player stealing the most bases in an entire season, was won with five.

Other developments detrimental to the best interests of baseball Saturday included:

- The use of ten pitchers by the two teams—seven by Princeton. One of Harvard's stayed around just long enough to make 13 pitches. Twelve were balls to load the bases aoout as quickly as the rules permit.
- A total of 22 bases on balls—one of which was issued to a Harvard pitcher with the bases filled, forcing in a run.
- Elapsed time of three hours and twenty-four minutes in 44-degree temperature chilled by a steady east wind.

But, like the Confederate cry about the south, baseball will rise again.

News Of The CHURCHES

NEW MINISTER NAMED

By Unitarians. Tha Rev. Robert L. Cope has been called as new minister of the Unitarian Church of Princeton, effective May 1. He succeeds the Rev. Straughan L. Gettler, who resigned last year.

The Rev. Mr. Cope served from 1957 through 1960 as professor of religious education at the Theological School of St. Lawrence University, Canton, N.Y., and last Summer taught at the Meadville Religious Education Institute of the University of Chicago.

From 1953 to 1957 the Rev. Mr. Cope was co-minister of the Unitarian - Universalist Church of Greater Buffalo, N.Y. He had previously served from 1950 to 1953 as minister of the Universalist Church in Buffalo and became co-minister of the larger church when the Universalist and Unitarians federated their parishes.

Before going to Buffalo he served from 1948 to 1950 as assistant minister of the Universalist Church on Central Park West, New York. Born in New York in 1922, he grew up in Teaneck, N.J., and received his B.A. degree from St. Lawrence University in 1945 and his B.D. degree from the Theological School of St. Lawrence in 1946.

Studying for Ph.D. The Rev. Mr. Cope has done graduate work at Union Theological UNITARIANS' CHOICE: The Rev. Robert L. Cope has been called as new minister of Princeton Unitarian Church.

Seminary, New York, and at Columbia University, where he is now a candidate for a Ph.D. in philosophical foundations of education. He hopes to complete work for this degree later this year.

Active in religious education, the Rev. Mr. Cope has served as dean and staff member of many Summer institutes and is a member of several Unitarian - Universalist national committees. He is also the author of several religious education pamphlets and a frequent contributor to Universalist publications.

YOUTH RALLY SET

At University Chapel. Young people from Presbyterian churches throughout New Jersey will join in a mass rally Sunday from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in Princeton University Chapel. More than 1,500 young people are expected to attend.

Overall theme of the rally will be "Why Be Good?," centering on the question of the ethics of today's high school students. The program will include a song fest, a service of praise in which an offering will be received to help construct a Christian youth camp in Cuba, and installation of officers of the state youth council.

Prior to the rally, young people from the eight New Jersey Presbyteries will meet at the three Presbyterian churches in Princeton, Princeton High School auditorium and the auditorium of Princeton Theological Seminary. Young people from the New Brunswick Presbytery, which includes Princeton, will meet beginning at 3:30 p.m. at Second Presbyterian Church.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Choir of Princeton Methodist Church will sing Bach's Cantata 198, "The Trauerode," Sunday at 8 p.m. in the church sanctuary. The original 18th century instrumentation will be used in the orchestra accompaniment, including the oboe d'amore and the violin da gamba.

First in a series of public discussion programs sponsored by the Social Education and Action Committee of Kingston Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the church assembly room. Speaker will be Dr. James Smylie, professor of American church history at Princeton Theological Seminary, who will talk on "Church-State Relations: The Protestant View." A question and answer period will follow his talk and there will be a social hour afterwards.

Three guest speakers have been scheduled for next week at Princeton Theological Seminary. All will speak in Miller Chapel. The Rev. Dr. Herbert H. Farmer, recently retired professor at Westminster College, Cambridge University, will speak Monday at 7:45 p.m. on "Ministerial Vocation."

Guest preacher at the 9 a.m. chapel service Wednesday will be the Rev. Dr. David H. C. Read, pastor of New York's Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church. That night at 7:45 there will be a public lecture by Lawrence Scott, who for the last two years has directed the vigil against germ warfare at the gates of Fort Detrick, Frederick, Md.

The Rev. Charles W. Marker, minister of Princeton Methodist Church, will attend the national Methodist convocation in Washington next Monday through Friday. The Rev. Mr. Marker is chairman of the Board of Christian Social Concerns of the New Jersey Annual Methodist Conference.

PLAN YOUR NEW YORK WEEKEND

with an expert

Mr. Douglas Moore, assistant manager of The Barclay in New York will be at Princeton Inn all day Friday, April 28. He's at your service in making room reservations at The Barclay, accepting orders for theatre tickets and giving you up-to-the-minute information on the events that will help to make your New York weekend a memorable one. Call him at the Inn (WA 4-5200) or drop by for a personal visit.

The Barclay is a prestige address and a long-time favorite with both business executives and holiday seekers. Its lobby, decorated by Dorothy Draper, is one of the loveliest in Manhattan and a popular and convenient meeting place. Rooms are spacious, air-conditioned, TV-equipped and most attractively decorated. The King's Inn is a truly fine eating place and provides diners with an authentic touch of Britain. For luncheon, cocktails, dinner and after-the-theatre supper, you'll love the Gold Room.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN on Real Estate: Let him not, who is homeless, pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself. Property is the fruit of labor, property is desirable; it is a positive good in the world. That some one should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently and build one for himself, thus by example showing that his own shall be safe from violence when built. Priced Alike... but COMPARE THE WEAR!

When ordinary 1st line tires are worn smooth and need to be replaced like the one on the left, Gates Air-Float Deluxe Nylons of low profile design (right) still have deep tread left to give you thousands and thousands more miles.

Revolutionary low profile nylon cuts tire mileage costs 25%

By stretching out your tire miles 25% to 30% this advanced tire — costing no more than 1st line tires of ordinary design — actually cuts your tire costs 25c on the dollar! Furthermore, your tires are protected by an –

Unconditional Road Hazard Guarantee
No time or mileage limit.

Covers ANY tire failure for the entire life of the tough, long-wearing tread. Should tire fail for any reason, you get a new tire, with full credit for unused mileage, based on Gates standard, nation-wide adjustment schedule.

COLONEL H. OSWALD on Real Estate An acre of ground can't run away; it can't burn up or down; it can't be stolen and hidden away out of sight; it represents the most solid, substantial and permanent investment possible. Most of the great historic fortunes are based on land. Never did fairy godmother with limitless power to pluck diamonds and gold out of the thin air bestow on her prime favorite such riches as have followed early investments in real estate in a good productive country. since lilacs first bloomed in the dooryard of this late 18th century farm house, high in the Hopewell hills. At the end of a long country lane, flanked by barn and carriage shed and built entirely of soft, mellowed brick, the house exudes an ageless charm. Its wide entrance hall with original staircase opens into spacious living and dining rooms, each with an antique mantel, and a wonderful, large extra room with many uses. The huge kitchen has been brought up to date, but hand-hewn beams, walk-in fireplace, and twisted stairs are there for the opening. Upstairs there are two, very large bedrooms, one with fireplace, and a modern bath. Random width pine floors, deep window sills, and a five-mile view toward Princeton complete the picture. Truly an antique lover's dream. $25,000 with an acre and one-half. More land available.
